Mission Statement

The following are the objectives which this Club honors and abides by:

To encourage and promote the breeding of pure-bred Cocker Spaniels and to do all possible to bring their natural qualities to perfection.

To urge members and breeders to accept the standard of the breed as approved by the American Kennel Club as the only standard of excellence by which Cocker Spaniels shall be judged.

To do all in its power to protect and advance the interests of the breed by encouraging sportsmanlike competition at dog shows, obedience trials and field trials.

To conduct sanctioned and licensed specialty shows, obedience trials, and field trials under the rules of the American Kennel Club.

AKC Agility Trials Approved

Congratulations to all the members of CSCOC for supporting the effort to be sanctioned to do AKC Agility Trials. Many thanks to all those who worked the day of our Match and to Quinn Ruvacava for her efforts in making this possible.

Several months ago, the membership had approved the minor changes to the Constiution as specified by AKC reflecting the hosting of Agility Trials. For your info, please find attached those changes which are in Article 1, Sections 2c-2d.

2010 Sweepstakes Judges Voting

We are happy to announce that David Sutcliffe has accepted the assignment to judge our Sweepstakes/Futurity in December.

Christmas Dinner Meeting Chairperson

Many thanks to Diane Love for volunteering to chair again this year's Christmas Party. More info on our dinner will be available as the time grows closer.

A Retired Show Dog

He sits to the side, out of the way
While others beg head rubs, or force you to play. His dark liquid eyes watch your every move Hoping and waiting, his love to prove.

He was shown many times, a promising pup And he just got better as he grew up. A picture of health, robust and strong, His gait and topline, never went wrong.

But his prime has passed, and he seems to know, That he'll never again be put in a show. He eats, he sleeps, not much more than that, And maybe he's getting a little too fat.

He loves to be brushed, when you have the time, He waits for his turn at the end of the line. You think of him, sure, but not nearly as much As those promising pups, that new special and such.

So he sits and he waits, til you have the time, To make the same fuss as you did in his prime. A scrap of affection, or playful shove, To him it means everything, to him it means LOVE!

WARNING. ICE CUBES AND ICE WATER

This was written by a dog owner. Permission was given to post by the man who received the e:mail.

"I know alot of us have given our dogs ice cubes and ice water especially during the hot summer months, not knowing that it can cause bloat in any breed of dog. I, myself, have done this, however will never again after reading this.

"This was posted on my breeders' board with permission to cross post in the hopes of saving another dog from having to go through this awful experience."

"Hello Everyone, I am writing this in hopes that some may learn from what I just went through. We were having a good weekend till Saturday. On Saturday I showed my Baran and left the ring. He was looking good and at the top of his game. He had a chance at no less then one of the two AOM's."

"It did not work out that way. After showing we went back to our site/set up and got the dogs in their crates to cool off. After being back about 30 min. I noticed Baran was low on water. I took a hand full of ice from my cooler and put it in his bucket with more water. We then started to get all the dogs Ex'ed and food ready for them."

"I had Baran in his 48' crate in the van because this is the place he loves to be. He loves to be able to see everyone and everything. After checking him and thinking he was cooled off enough, we fed him. We walked around and one of my friends stated that Baran seamed like he was choking. I went over and checked on him. He was dry heaving and drooling. I got him out of the crate to check him over and noticed he had not eaten. He was in some distress. I checked him over from head to toe and did not notice anything. I walked him around for about a minute when I noticed that he was starting to bloat. I did everything I was taught to do in this case. I was not able to get him to burp, and we gave him Phasezime."

"We rushed Baran to a vet clinic. We called ahead and let them know we were on our way. They were set up and waiting for us. They got Baran stablized very quickly. After Baran was stable and out of distress we transported him to AVREC where he went into surgery to make sure no damage was done to any of his vital organs. I am very happy to say Baran is doing great, there was no damage to any vital organs, and he still loves his food."

"In surgery the vet found that Baran's stomach was in its normal anatomic position. We went over what had happened. When I told the vet about the ice water, he asked why I gave him ice water. I said that I have always done this. I told him my history behind this practice and his reply was, "I have been very lucky." The ice water I gave Baran caused violent muscle spasms in his stomach which caused the bloating. Even though I figured his temperature was down enough to feed, and gave him this ice water, I was wrong. His internal temperature was still high. The vet stated that giving a dog ice to chew or ice water is a big NO, NO! There is no reason for a dog to have ice/ice water. Normal water at room temperature, or cooling with cold towels on the inner thigh, is the best way to help cool a dog. The vet explained it to me like this: If you, as a person, fall into a frozen lake what happens to your muscles? They cramp. This is the same as a dog's stomach."

"I felt the need to share this with everyone, in the hopes that some may learn from what I went through, I do not wish this on anyone. Baran is home now doing fine. So please if you do use ice and ice water, beware of what could happen."

Jane & James Wade

This is Double J's Some Like It Hot ("Sizzle") win picture from her 4 pt major out of the bred by class under Frank Sabella. Later that day we took a Bred by Sporting Group 3.
Sire: Ch Loma Point 18K You Da Man ("Dante") Dam: Ch Loma Point A Gift To Dbl J ("Raven")
Thanks for letting me share and all the support from our friends at the shows!

It all started about 16 years ago in Texas. Joyce gave me a choice between two of her black/tan boys to co-own. I picked the bright black/tan because he was so pretty and we just seemed to have a connection from the start. So began my love affair of the black/tans and my dear Kicker, CH JJ-S Cowpokes Sidekick. From getting a group placement before he became a Champion, to multiple group placements and a Group 1, to his Best Veteran win in Long Beach 4 years ago at age 12, Kicker and I had an amazing journey. He was my heart and soul dog, that once in a life time dog but most of all, my best friend. Owner/handled, I always said he let me go around the ring with him and he taught me the ropes. He was 16 1/2 years old.

June Dennis

My black/white Pointer girl, MARENDA'S MATERIAL GIRL ("Hilary") now has 3 points. She was Winners Bitch & BOW on Sunday at Lake Mathews, Winners Bitch on Sunday at Mt. Palomar & Winners Bitch & BOS on Saturday at Pasadena...all the above were from the Bred by class

My black Cocker girl, MARENDA-FIRST CLASS FAMOUS N A SMALL TOWN ("Miranda") made her show debut on Sunday at Pasadena & was RWB. She really did well considering I was favoring a sprained knee.

Mindy, Jerry & Scott Tandy

We are proud to announce that Scott's Eagle Ceremony will take place on Sept. 11th. All are welcome! If you would like to attend, please let us and we'll get the details!

Also, Scott completed his first Judging assignment at the Temecula Kennel Club Match on 7/17/10. He judged Junior Showmanship with 5 entries (in a 104 degree heat!) and did a great job!

See everyone at the Potluck!!
